PEDRO POINT ROAD PLANS ABANDONED

Francis Overridden In Efforts to Save Route

VOTE IS 2-1

Work to Start Soon On Santa Cruz Link

By a vote of two to one, directors of Joint Highway District No. 9, embracing San Mateo, Santa Cruz and San Francisco counties, today were committed to abandonment of present plans for the construction of a coast highway around Pedro Point.

The motion to drop the option for the right of way was made by Supervisor George Ley, of Santa Cruz, at a meeting in San Francisco yesterday afternoon. Supported by the vote of Andrew Callagher of San Francisco, the motion was carried over the protest of Manuel Francis, the third director, who is chairman of the San Mateo county board of supervisors.

Francis moved to amend the motion to accept the price of $112,000, approved by the courts, in an effort to save the project. The amendment was voted on first, with the negative result. Ley's original motion to halt the proceedings was then carried.

Ley then moved to proceed with plans for the construction of the second part of the coastside highway project—approximately four miles just across the county line, in Santa Cruz county. Ley and Gallagher carried this motion, over the disapproval of Francis.

A third motion by Ley was also carried, two to one. It provided that attorneys prepare papers to cancel the Pedro mountain construction contract. This work has been halted pending the outcome of the situation.

At this point, Helm Goldman, representing the federated improvement clubs of San Mateo county, asked for reconsideration of the directors' action. Gallagher said such a request could come up at the next meeting of the directors, due April 17th.

The directors' meeting yesterday afternoon followed a meeting, earlier in the day, of civic leaders of the three counties, who adopted a resolution approving the $112,000 price for the Pedro mountain right of way held by the Ocean Shore railway interests.

At the directors' session there were two groups—Goldman's and a taxpayers' association from the coastside.

A letter from an Ocean Shore official asserting the Ocean Shore people would not contest the acquisition of the balance of the right of way if they are given $5,000, plus the $112,000 for the Pedro mountain right of way, was discussed. Counsel present said that the letter "didn't mean much," since any stockholder of the company could, later, start a contest.

A letter to Hugh Pomeroy, advisor to the county planning commission, was also discussed. This declared that the state highway commission undoubtedly would accept the coastside highway into the state secondary system, once it was built.

Supervisor Ley made a lengthy statement, during which he said that San Mateo county had put up no money for the coast route, although it would get the major share of the benefits from the road. Santa Cruz and San Francisco counties had put up money, he said.

In answer to this, Thomas L. Hickey, former San Mateo county supervisor, and Francis said that $70,000 was available in the county treasury for the coast highway, and could be secured within 24 hours.

Ley said he did not question that fact, but asserted that two demands for money had been made, and that none had actually been produced.

Clyde Healey, assistant city engineer of San Francisco, expressed himself as in favor of the coast road project, but felt that the total cost could not be forseen, and that it might run into an exhorbitant figure.

Howard I. Wood, manager of the local chamber of commerce, attended both of yesterday's meetings. At a meeting of county chambers of commerce in South San Francisco last week, he was named to head a committee to investigate the highway situation.

STUDENTS ENTERTAINED AT SUNDAY SUPPER

Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Crosby of Redwood City entertained 50 Stanford students at supper Sunday evening. Other guests were Mrs. John Bland of New York City, William Brown and Kenaston Twitchel, all members of the Oxford Group. They talked informally on the movement.

Easter Morn Services to Be At 5:33

Worshipers at sunrise Easter Sunday from Redwood City and its neighboring communities of the peninsula were notified today by the citizens' committee which is arranging the annual community pilgrimage to Emerald Peak that the program in the natural amphitheatre there will start promptly at 5:33 a. m., the exact minute of dawn.

Long before that hour, hundreds of automobiles will start the drive out Jefferson avenue in the direction of the huge cross which nightly shines as a reminder of Holy Week.

Because many of the 2,000 in attendance last year failed promptly to locate the woodland bowl in which the services are held, the citizens' committee today was arranging for markers directing the way to the place.

Assuring adequate handling of traffic, Chief of Police C. L. Collins inspected the location today in company with City Manager E. A. Rolison and the Rev. Norman W. Pendleton.

Complete directions for reaching the amphitheatre, which is about 500 feet below and southeast of the cross, will be announced tomorrow. Boy Scouts will be on hand at intersections to direct the way and assist in parking. An easy path from the parking area to the bowl has been provided by the city.

Heavy Cost Seen If Road Is Abandoned

Abandonment of the Pedro Point section of the proposed Ocean Shore highways, if not reconsidered at the meeting of the directors on April 17, may cost the tri-county taxpayers an estimated $30,000 to $40,000 for which they will receive absolutely no benefits, it was reported today.

No estimates are available of the actual cost of the project to date for the five years in which it has been in litigation and under debate, but the $30,000 to $40,000 figure was cited at yesterday's session.

Directors in bringing eminent domain proceedings against the Ocean Shore Railroad Company must either accept the $112,000 price fixed by the courts before April 19 or be prepared to pay the entire cost of litigation and engineering fees.

Court costs, with scores of expert engineering witnesses and attorneys to be paid, and expensive printing and filing fees to be met, will run into a large figure, it is reported.

The directors are also reported to have spent a large sum on engineering fees, surveys and preparation of plans, most of which will be futile effort if the Pedro Point section is abandoned.

PENINSULA AIR BASE IS DEDICATED

Macon's Home Port Commissioned This Week

2,000 SPECTATORS

New Ship's Maiden Flight Delayed By Weather

"Carry on!"

With this silent but traditional wish from the Akron's dead, officers and crew of the Sunnyvale dirigible base raised the Stars and Stripes over the peninsula station for the first time Wednesday and officially accepted it for the United States Navy.

The base is now ready for the arrival of the U.S.S. Macon, sister ship of the ill-fated Akron.

Rear Admiral George W. Laws, commandant of the 12th naval district, commissioned the base. It was accepted by Lieut.-Comm. Myron J. Walker, U.S.N., acting commandant in the absence of Capt. Harry E. Shoemaker, who is in Washington in connection with the Akron inquiry.

"Magnificent Gift"

Laws called the airbase a "magnificent gift" and thanked the 2000 or more persons present for the land on which the station is located. It was a gift to the government from the peninsula communities.

Earl Lee Kelley, director of the state department of public works, spoke briefly as Governor Rolph's representative. The governor, because of pressure of state business, could not be present.

Admiral Laws called for a moment of memorial silence for the officers and crew of the ill-fated Akron, all of whom were comrades and personal friends of the new station's personnel.

Flag Is Raised

Walker, in accepting the base, said it would be the wish of the Akron's crew that the men who take their places should "carry on!"

As the Star-Spangled Banner was played, the Stars and Stripes were unfolded from the mast for the first time and the brief ceremonies of acceptance were over.

Admiral Laws was then taken for an inspection trip over the station, during which the huge north doors of the hangar were opened and shut, the mobile mooring mast moved over the railroad tracks to the doors of the hangar and back, and the beam to which the stern of the huge ship is attached was demonstrated.

Mayor William J. Dusel of Redwood City was among those who took part in the dedicatory rites.

FLIGHT DELAYED

AKRON, April 12—The plan to take the U. S. S. Macon into the air at 5 a. m. tomorrow on her first trial flight was cancelled late today by Commander A. H. Dresel because of poor weather.

They Start the United States Reforestation Plan

Here is the start of the government's plan to employ 250,000 jobless men in a national reforestation campaign, the first truckload of 2-year-old Douglas fir trees leaving the forest service nursery at Wind Rivers, Wash., for distribution to the reforestation camps. Each bale contains 3700 young trees.

Recruits for Conservation Work Sought

San Mateo county was invited today to submit a list of recruits for the Civilian Conservation Camp to be opened by the United States Government in the Presidio in San Francisco—the first such camp in California to be founded to bring relief to unemployed, unmarried men.

R. C. Branion, emergency relief administrator, in a night letter to Chairman Manuel Francis of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, instructed Francis to appoint some one to take charge of the registrations.

Francis picked Capt. Edward Macauley of the San Mateo county unemployment committee to handle the list.

The first recruits are to be taken from the list of the already unemployed registrants. New registration will not be encouraged because of the limited facilities to handle all the single men who will wish to enroll in the camps.

Branion's telegram to Francis declares that "recruits for Civilian Conservation Camps will be drawn from the lists of men already registered with the county for relief or with accredited agencies in the community handling unemployment relief."

Qualifications for eligibility are:

Ages, 18 to 25.

Unmarried men having dependents.

Need determined by investigation.

Legal residence in California.

American citizenship.

PROTESTS TO PATROL CUT FILED

Petitions Forwarded To Representatives At Sacramento

HUNDREDS SIGN

Assembly Bill Would Reduce Force By One Half

Opposition developed in San Mateo county Monday to the assembly proposal that the local traffic patrol be reduced one half under the terms of the state budget bill.

Hundreds of Redwood City and San Mateo county residents were signing petitions urging Senator Harry Parkman to fight the reduction in the patrol when the matter comes before the senate.

Besides closing the Redwood City office of the bureau and reducing the force here one-half, the bill closes all main branch offices in the state and aims to discharge 230 members of the state patrol in other counties.

The bill will force the cessation of the night patrol; will eliminate the border registration service entirely; will curtail service rendered by telephone and teletype relative to motor registration; will discontinue numerical files by license number in the offices at San Francisco and Los Angeles, and will curtail other activities and services rendered by the patrol.

The budget bill (Assembly Bill 675) will reduce the budget allotment of the department of motor vehicles $1,684,375.

Moulthrop in Bid for Chief Executiveship

Local Engineer Adds Name to Growing List

W. H. Moulthrop, 43, Redwood City civil engineer and assistant to the chief engineer of the Southern Pacific Company, Monday added his name to the list of applicants for the post of chief executive of San Mateo county.

Moulthrop's application was received by the supervisors and was placed on file with Miss Pansy Jewett Abbott, county superintendent of schools and ex-officio secretary of the qualification board.

The post is to be filled under the terms of the new county charter by July 1.

The application cites that he has held executive positions with the Southern Pacific Company on large construction projects, including location surveys and construction of railroads, bridges, buildings and roads, the expenditures on which exceeded $100,000,000.

Positions included those of executive secretary and chief clerk to the chief engineer, office manager of the engineering department, field manager of the construction department and assistant to the chief engineer.

He is a native of San Francisco, born May 25, 1889, and lives here with his wife and daughter.

Others whose applications are on file include:

Richard Savage, Redwood City engineer; J. C. Beard, Burlingame postmaster; Hugh H. Smith, Daly City mayor; Chester C. Fisk, assistant Berkeley city manager; Randall Dorton, Monterey city manager; Roland Koehler, Pontiac, Mich. and Albert Ackerman, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Those considering:

Roy W. Pilling, assistant to former City Manager John Edy, Berkeley; H. S. Throckmorton, Los Angeles engineer.

Cooking School Will Recognize Economical Budgets of Families

"Inexpensive, but well-balanced and appetizing meals to offset that salary cut."

This is the slogan of Mrs. Catherine Laughton, expert home economist of the Safeway Stores Homemakers' Bureau, while waiting for prosperity to come skipping around the corner.

MRS. LAUGHTON

Mrs. Laughton will direct a three-day cooking school in Redwood City, sponsored by The Tribune, beginning April 19, at the Parochial school. Hours of the sessions will be from 2 until 4 p. m., with doors open at 1 p. m., and all information gathered by the bureau and its testing kitchen in more than a year of research work will be revealed to homemakers, with the family budget always in mind.

With Julia Lee Wright, famous western home economist in chareg, the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau has the distinction of being the only organization of its kind in the west. Therefore, it is looked upon as the criterion by western women. Acting as a clearing house and scientific testing department for household culinary problems, it maintains a staff of nine university and practically trained young women home economists, including the director, Mrs. Wright.

As the date of the school opening draws close, homemakers of Redwood City are urged by Mrs. Laughton to prepare to attend, equipped with pencil and paper, even though printed programs will be issued, for many interesting kitcheneering facts are on the list for note taking, and all questions will be answered, either orally or by mail. During the two hours of sessions each day, ten varied items of meals or luncheons will be prepared.

SUNNYVALE FUND AIDS COUNTY MEET CLAIMS

Opposition to Tax Limit Is Voiced Here

Crippling of County Gov't Seen If Bill Is Adopted

Opposition to assembly constitutional amendment No. 46 by which the combined tax rate of city, county and school district could not exceed $1.50 per $100 was voiced Monday by the board of supervisors.

Telegrams were also dispatched by the supervisors to Senator Harry L. Parkman and Assemblyman Frederick Peterson.

Delegates from the cities and schools met with the supervisors here late Monday to ask that the measure be opposed.

Mayor William J. Dusel, City Superintendent of Schools John Gill, County Superintendent of Schools Pansy Jewett Abbott and others protested the measure.

It was said its passage would so cripple county government that the courthouse "might as well be shut down."

The bill would except obligations already incurred in the ways of bonds for school and other purposes, but would limit the property tax for "all state, county, city and county, municipal, school district, and other local purposes" to the $1.50 per $100.

If additional tax monies were needed, the proposition would be required to go before the people for a two-thirds vote except in charter counties or cities.

Plan to Use Haskins Hill Road Money Not Possible

With but $3,000 in the special road improvement fund and $8,000 worth of claims on hand, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors was called upon Monday to do some fast thinking.

Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City, declared the board was in a "pinch" and District Attorney Edmund Scott said that the county perhaps had never hewed so close to the line.

A solution was finally found when it was decided to make use of the $10,163 voted by the supervisors a year ago as part of the county's $50,000 contribution toward the Sunnyvale air base purchase price.

The money has been lying idle in the general fund but remained untouched because of the county's indecision whether or not to keep its pledge on the Sunnyvale offer. It now looks as if the promise will not be fulfilled.

The $10,163 added to the $3,000 balance in the special road fund will give $13,000 to meet the outstanding claims, which will use up the $8,000 approved today and approximately $1,000 or $2,000 more.

It is expected that by the narrowest pinch the county may get through the year and still be able to continue the relief work under the bond issue. The $8,000 in claims are reported to represent materials and supervision paid out on relief projects.

Tied By Contract

The board had hoped to use the $9,944 now in the Haskins Hill road fund, but Surveyor James S. James and Auditor Edward Stack informed the board that this fund was tied up under an existing contract.

Supervisor Rosalie Brown, San Mateo, said that the board only wanted to borrow the money until after July 1, but Surveyor James said that H. E. Casey of San Mateo was prepared to go ahead on the Haskins Hill work.

There is about $5,000 worth of work yet to do, James said. It consists of placing the pavement on the unfinished portion of the road. There is now owing to Casey the sum of $7,165 for the last payment on work done last winter, James said. This will mean that this fund will need about $2,200 more than provided for in the budget. The additional is for extra work.

Witt Wants Trucks

Supervisor Albert Witt, Colma, made a new demand on the board for trucks, declaring his present equipment to be outworn. The board voted him $500 to hire trucks until the end of the fiscal year.

Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City, agreed to give Witt one of his trucks to use for the balance of the year.

Starting April 1, the supervisors agreed that they will meet the future expenses of their projects from the balances in the regular road funds and will give only Chairman Manuel Francis the right to continue to assess claims against the special road fund.

Asks Inspection Fees

Surveyor James asked the board of supervisors to transfer to the surveyor's budget the sum of $3500 to meet the wages of inspectors used on the Haskins Hill and La Honda road projects.

James informed the board that this work was not foreseen when the budget was drawn up a year ago and that the wages have been charged against his budget and not against the projects.

The supervisors did not take any action on the request.

District Deserves Jobs

During the Republican administration the Eighth Congressional District received very little patronage, although it is among the large districts of the state. San Mateo county had none. The present state administration has given the county very little recognition.

The Democratic County Committee has adopted a plan whereby the Eighth District is going to receive its full quota of patronage. The leaders in the county believe the district is entitled to 20 positions. This of course would mean deputies and one major appointment. The Democrats who worked for their party are entitled to recognition.

The county committee has adopted the following plan, which by the way, was the Raker system many years ago. He represented the First District which always received its prorata of appointments:

Federal patronage for the State of California should be divided equally between each of the Congressional Districts. The Eighth Congressional District should insist upon having allocated to it a certain number of appointments including a major one.

If a certain number of positions were allocated to the Eighth Congressional District it would rest then with the respective Democratic organizations of the district to join in making recommendation as to the particular citizens of the respective district to receive appointments.

Unless a certain proportion of the Federal patronage is allocated to the respective congressional district it is more than likely that the larger cities will capture all substantial appointments.

STOP STRIKING MATCHES

...and waiting for water to heat

the place to turn on
is at the faucet!

OF COURSE it is not the mere striking of matches that makes the old-fashioned tank type of water heater such a nuisance. It is because someone always has to light the heater. It is because someone always has to wait for the water to heat, and always has to remember to turn off the water heater.

With an Automatic Gas water heater all this is different. You turn on hot water at the faucet. You learn to take its service for granted, a part of the modern living you enjoy. The first month of service is always a revelation—you wonder how you ever put up with any other kind of hot water service in your home.

There is no starting or stopping for anyone to remember. It is quiet, dependable, absolutely carefree. And all this for less cost per gallon of hot water than you pay for your present unsatisfactory hot water service.

Judge this Automatic service of hot water in your home for yourself; go and see the new Automatic Hot Water Heaters on display in the nearest P. G. & E. office or at your dealer's store. They are so easy to buy. As little as $4.85 down and $3.85 a month will place one in your home.

Natural Gas cuts the former cost of gas water heating as much as 53%.

Elsener Elected Head of Belmont Water District

BELMONT, April 12.—Lawrence E. Elsener, by unanimous vote, was named the new president of the Belmont county water district at its organization meeting held last evening. He will succeed Joseph Heartsner, who did not seek re-election to the water board. The motion was put by Chris L. Jordan, mayor, and seconded by Alexander Morrison.

Miss Victoria Roussel, secretary, was retained with an additional fee of $7, making her fee $10 per month. Col. Charles N. Kirkbride, attorney for the district, was also retained. Elwood Curtis, manager of the district, was re-instated as general manager and Vernon P. Irvin was retained as auditor with a fee agreeable to both the auditor and the board. George A. Kneese was again named as engineer.

Louis C. Vannier, Alexander Morrison and Clifford Lussier were welcomed to their seats, and Directors Waldo J. Marra and Elsener were returned to their place on the water board.

From the statistics of the report of Manager Curtis, the district was operated during the month of March at a gross profit of $407.10, which includes Belmont general and Belle Monti.

The manager was authorized to have the truck of the district overhauled.

Curtis said that for the past three years one new consumer per month has been added to the district.

On recommendation of Elsener, the board passed a resolution commending Heartsner for his services rendered to the district during his term of office. Heartsner thanked the board for its commendation.

In a letter from Colonel Kirkbride, who was unable to be present, mention was made that the application sent to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation relative to Belmont's $45,000 water bonds, for an adequate water system, was favorably received. The board is awaiting a favorable reply in order to start work on the new water system. The engineer was authorized to complete all plans and specificaticns covering the new system, so no time will be lost in securing bids.

Jordan, Elsener and Hyne were named to work on the engineering committee with Engineer W. W. Hendricks in completing the plans and specifications for the new system.

During 1932 the number of telephone calls originating in the London area was 745,000,000.
